far since she bade good-by to her associates of The Wohld staff on the deck of the Augusta Victoria. If she should make relatively the same speed for the remainder of the journey, she will complete the circuit of the journey, she will complete the circuit of the earth inside of seventy days.

It is expected, however, that there will be a delay of four days in Hong Kong. Besides, the journey from Singapore to Hong Kong is necessarily slow, and the leeway of four days may be exhausted. This was all allowed for in preparing her itinerary.

The cablegram received yesterday, announcing Miss Bly's arrival at Singapore, was a surprise in The Wohld office, as it was supposed that the delay at Ceylon would seriously hinder her progress. It is accounted for, however, on the supposition that Miss Bly inadvertently used the wrong word in her cable code, and thus lad to misapprehension here. If there were delays, at all events, the plucky little woman has overcome them, and has fully remained all lost time.

Miss Bly has plenty of money, and all the resources of The Wohld to drawn upon, and resources of The Wohld to drawn upon.

Guessers are now in possession of all the information concerning Nellie Bly up to date. She will be on time, and she may be shead of time. Guesses are coming in by the thousays. The coupon printed every day in The Wondo entitles its holder to a guess. The guess that comes nearest to stating the exact humber of days, hours, minutes and seconds required by Miss Bly in making her tour of the world will win a free round trip to Europe, which will include a week's stay in London and a week in Pariz, with possibly a run down to Rome.

The Nellie Bly gues-ing-match coupon will be found in the morning World.

NEW YORK'S DIRTY STREETS.

The Text for a Lively Board of Estimate Sermon.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday passed upon the estimates for the Health and Street Clearing Departments for 1800. Commissioner James S. Coleman said he needed $1,434,600 to keep the streets clean. He got $1,196,165. The amount allowed Jast year was $1,272,040,54. Tax Commissioner Coleman made a determined fight to have the Board will entertain La Grippe during the concert.

Commissioner Coleman said that the man who was responsible should be discharged.

"Well, I do wish something could be done," plaintively replied the Mayor. "All I want is to get the streets cleaned."

"I find that the only way is to have your own private sweeper, as have the residents in many streets uptown," remarked the Comptroller.

Let the Road Be Extended. Alderman Lynch and ex-Aldermen Shea acting as a cammittee for the residents of the extreme upper end of the city, called on the Park Board and asked that the Suburban Elevated Railroad be allowed to extend its line from its present terminus at One Hondred and Seventieth street, up Third Hondred and Seventieth street, up Third avenue to Fordham. The Commissioners were willing to grant the permit, but they thought it might interfere with the work of regulating and grating Third avenue from One Hundred and Seventieth street to Fordham, for which a contract will be awarded next week, as the two works could not well go on at the rame time. The matter was finally referred to the Corporation Couped for an opinion as to whether, under the circumstances, there was any legal objection to the Board's granting the permit for the extension of the rallroad.
